Re: Staff Recommended Change for Listed AQIP Institutions

The following institutions are on the AQIP Pathway and had their accredited status reaffirmed by IAC during AY2013-14. As you may be aware, the Commission has also been engaged in a substantial revision of the AQIP Pathway during this same period. Along with changes and updates to various AQIP processes and requirements, the AQIP cycle has been moved from its traditional seven years to eight years. The Commission’s Board of Trustees approved this change at its meeting on June 13, 2014.

As a result of AQIP’s movement from the seven-year cycle to the eight-year cycle, the following institutions require a one-time adjustment to the date of their next reaffirmation. In other words, as opposed to undergoing a reaffirmation review again in AY2020-21 (seven years from now), they should in the new model be reviewed again in AY2021-22 (eight years from now). Without this adjustment, these ten institutions will be shorted one year of accredited status in the new AQIP Pathway. This change does not apply to other AQIP institutions and, again, it is a one-time adjustment allowable under Commission policy.

I am hopeful that IAC will approve this staff recommended change applicable to the following institutions. A transition map that applies to these AQIP institutions is attached to illustrate better this need. I will be happy to address any questions or concerns and thank you in advance for your assistance.
