Ohio Valley University in Vienna, West Virginia, has ceased enrolling new students and has voluntarily resigned its HLC accreditation, effective June 30, 2022. The institution currently remains an HLC-accredited institution on probation and is presently teaching seniors through June 30, 2022, the effective date of voluntary resignation.

For financial purposes, the Federal Student Aid Office of the U.S. Department of Education may be contacted by students who may be eligible to pursue a closed-school student loan discharge. Information is available at https://studentaid.gov/announcements-events/closed-school. Additional questions about student loans should be directed to the U.S. Department of Education.

The institution’s website is presently inoperable and final arrangements regarding location for student records and transcripts are pending.

About the Higher Learning Commission
The Higher Learning Commission accredits approximately 1,000 colleges and universities in the United States. HLC is a private, nonprofit accrediting agency. It is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation. Questions? Contact info@hlcommission.org or call 312.263.0456.

Original Posting Date: December 22, 2021
Updated Posting Date: March 8, 2022