

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE NOTICE FOR AN INSTITUTION
RESIGNING COMMISSION AFFILIATION

Phillips Theological Seminary
Tulsa, Oklahoma

The Commission has accredited Phillips Theological Seminary since 1992. The Seminary voluntarily resigned from status with the Commission effective October 1, 2013.

Phillips Theological Seminary was not under any sanction or show-cause order at the time of its resignation, nor has the Commission notified the institution that the Commission intends to withdraw accreditation or place the institution on sanction because of non-compliance with Commission standards.

Information for Students

Phillips Theological Seminary will continue to be accredited through the Commission on Accrediting of the Association of Theological Schools (ATS). Students with questions regarding federal student aid or other matters related to the voluntary resignation of accreditation should direct those questions to Phillips Theological Seminary. For questions related to this change, students can contact:

Gary Peluso-Verdend, President and Associate Professor of Practical Theology
Phillips Theological Seminary
901 N. Mingo Road
Tulsa, Oklahoma 74114
gary.peluso@ptstulsa.edu
918-270-6405

For questions related to the accreditation status of Phillips Theological Seminary with ATS, students may contact that agency:

The Association of Theological Schools in the United States and Canada
The Commission on Accrediting
10 Summit Park Drive
Pittsburgh, PA 15275-9110
412-788-6505
ats.edu

About the Higher Learning Commission

The Higher Learning Commission accredits more than 1,000 colleges and universities that have a home base in one of 19 states that stretch from West Virginia to Arizona. The Commission is a private, nonprofit regional accrediting agency. The Commission's mission is to assure and advance the quality of higher learning. It is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation. The institutions the Commission accredits include public, private not-for-profit, and proprietary institutions at degree levels from the associate's through the doctoral degree level and from small, specialized institutions through large research universities.

Students, parents, and others from the general public with questions regarding the Commission's work should contact John Hausaman at the Higher Learning Commission by email at info@hlcommission.org or by phone at 312-263-0456.

Posted: October 24, 2013